

DAVID.

The promoter, ticketing platform and marketing engine for the middle of live music.

Raising £1m

Touring is broken.

Fans

25%+

booking fees

Artists

Towels.

padded settlements

The data

Not yours.

the promoter keeps it

The marketing

2015

fixed low, spent blind

They get paid whether the show sells. So it doesn't.

38.6%

average sell-through at UK grassroots shows — Music Venue Trust, 2024

When tours stop selling, their teams already call us.

RULES · EUROPE 2026

91%

sold · £2.55 a ticket

ADMT · UK 2025

92%

sold · £2.59 a ticket

The artists' teams bring us in. Both of these were Live Nation and AEG tours that had stopped selling.

VERIFIED 19 AUG 2026

Live, selling, accelerating.

Sold by the machine

~7,600

tickets

~£179K GROSS

On sale now

£330k

across 43 shows

Last 7 days

266

tickets · 138 buyers

Fans captured

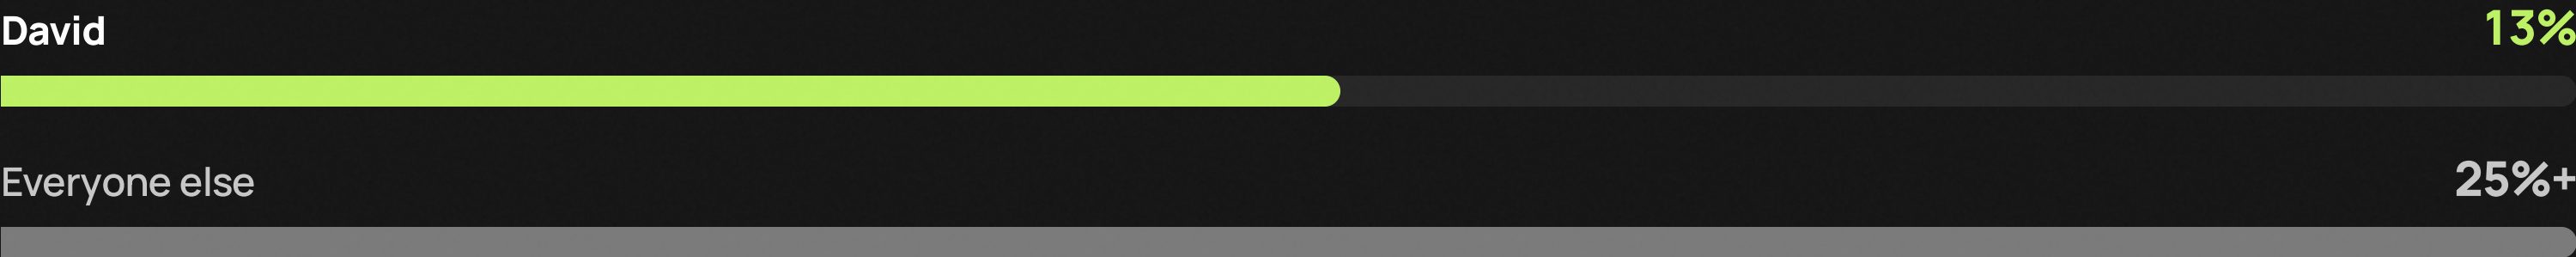

1,939

artist-owned

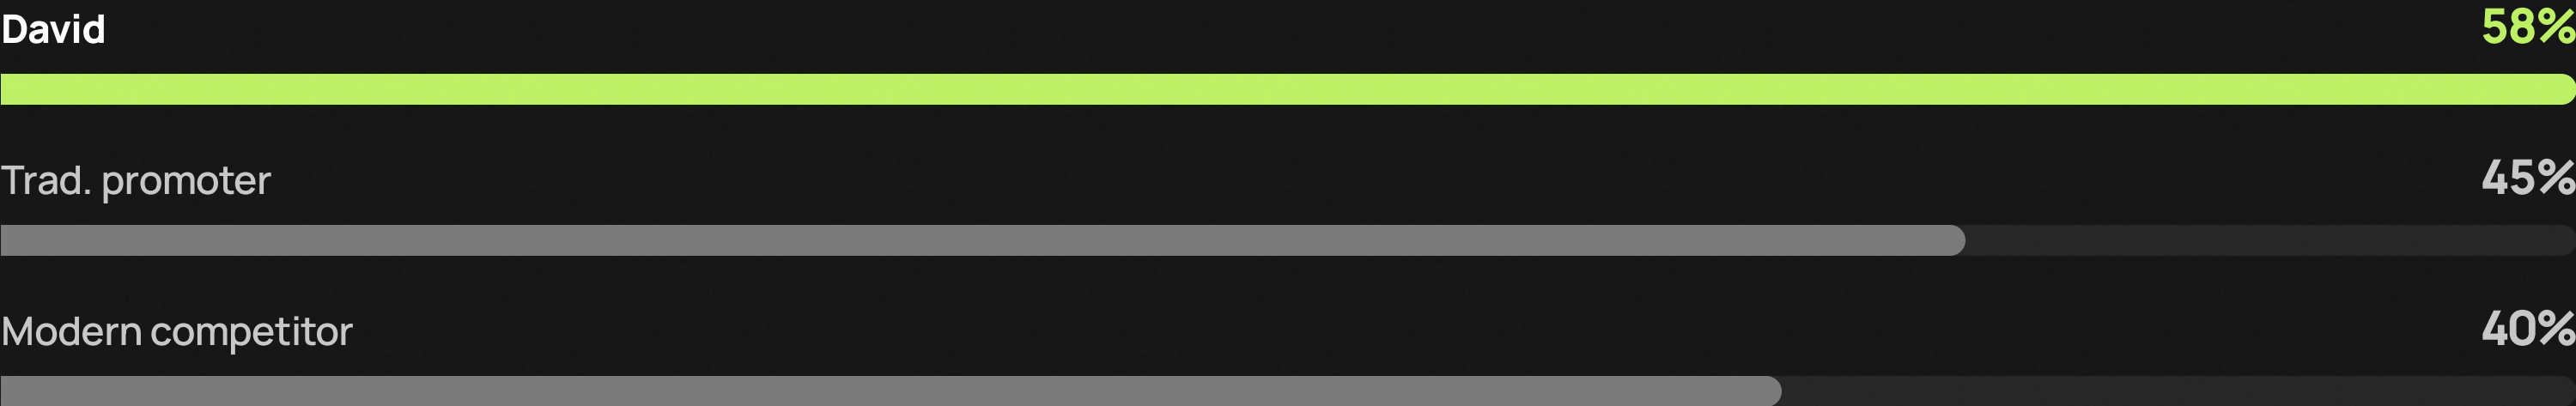

92% average sell-through across the last three tours. The platform has been live fourteen weeks.

We charge less, and sell more.

WHAT THE FAN PAYS ON TOP

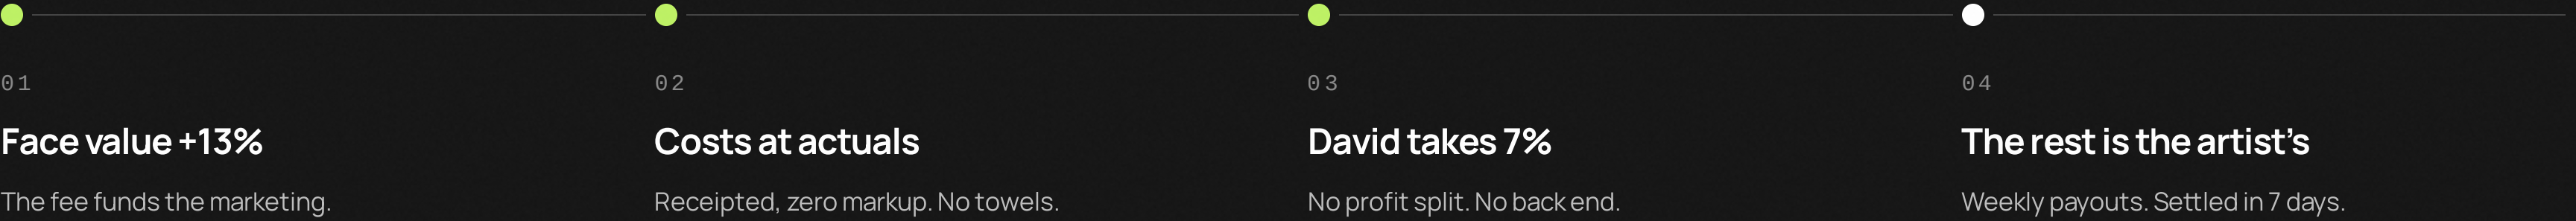

WHAT THE ARTIST KEEPS, ON A SOLD-OUT SHOW

Smaller fee, bigger gross. The artist wins on both sides.

Our only cut of the artist's revenue is 7% of gross.

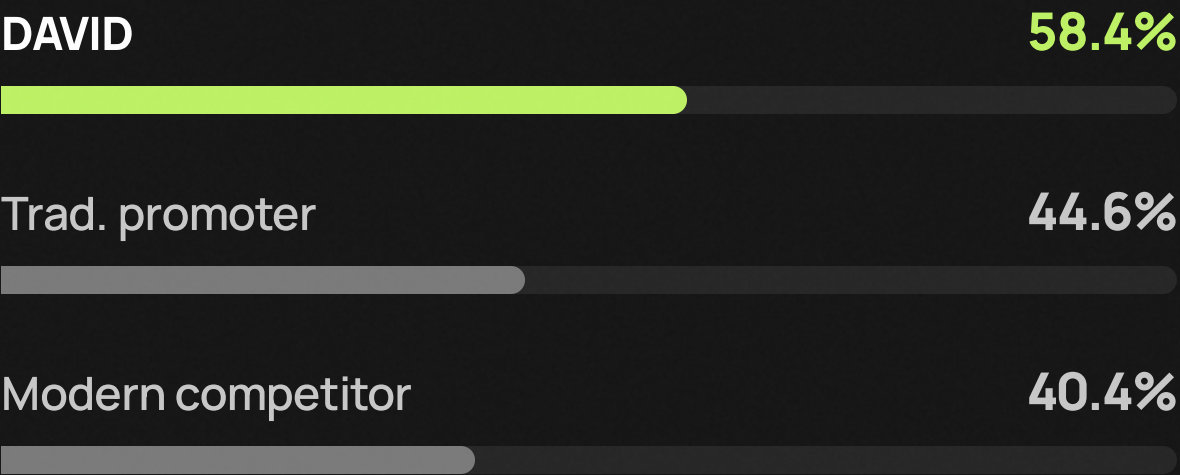

The old deal: pad the costs, then take ~20% of what survives.

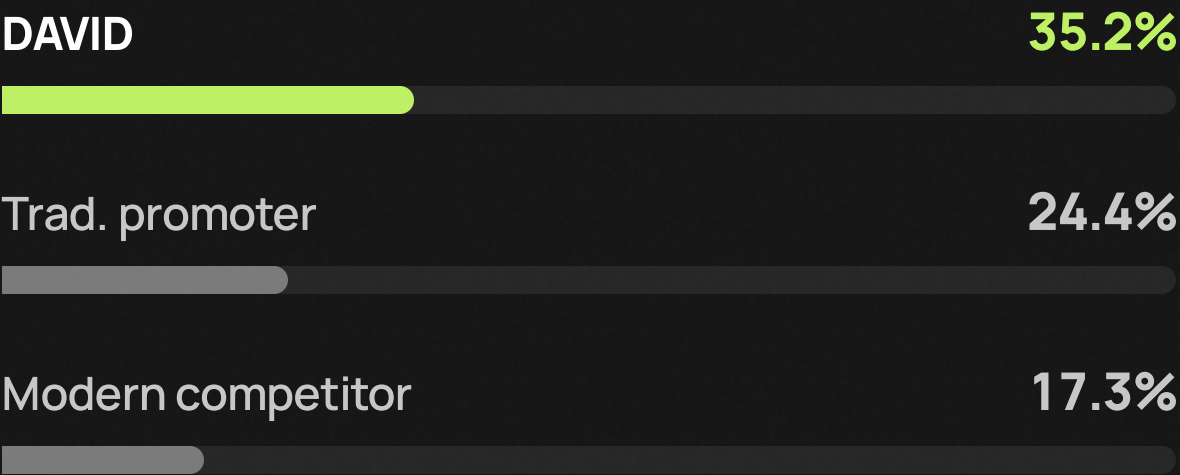

The artist takes home ~45% more.

Example settlement · Hoxton Hall, 350 cap. Share of gross potential.

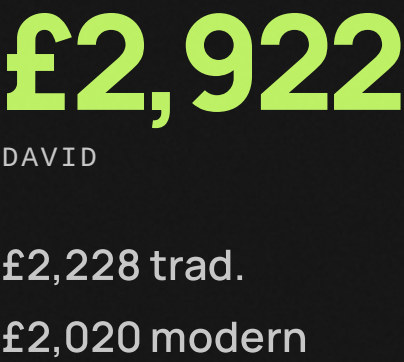

SOLD OUT

80% SOLD

PER SOLD-OUT SHOW

Their spend is cheaper. Their rooms are emptier.

On a £20 ticket. Cost per ticket on its own is the wrong measure.

DAVID

COMMITTED

Up to £6.00

30% of ticket price

DELIVERED

Under £3.00

last three tours

THE ROOM

91–92%

sold

INCUMBENTS

COMMITTED

£1.50–2.50

and spent blind

DELIVERED

Not attributed

THE ROOM

4–27%

sold when we are called in

We commit two to four times more per ticket, come in under half of it, and the gap goes back to the artist.

AI makes the middle market servable.

10 → 4,129

PEOPLE SHOWS A YEAR · THE YEAR-5 MODEL

Advancing, settlement and tax used to cost more in hours than a mid-size show could carry. That cost collapsed.

Nobody else is paid to fill the room.

Ticketing sells to the people already coming. Promoters get paid either way.

	FILLS THE ROOM	ARTIST KEEPS THE DATA	ARTIST KEEPS THE UPSIDE
Ticketing Ticketmaster · AXS · DICE · See	No	No	—
Promoters Live Nation · AEG · local promoters	Fixed, low, unmeasured	No	No
DAVID The product is the marketing	Yes	Yes	Yes

Every one of them still gets paid on a half-empty room. We only get paid on a full one.

The middle is most of live music.

UK live sector GVA

£2.5bn

Europe is a multiple

Attendance under 1,500 cap

55%

the majority, not a niche

Revenue pool

£600m–1bn

no pan-European incumbent

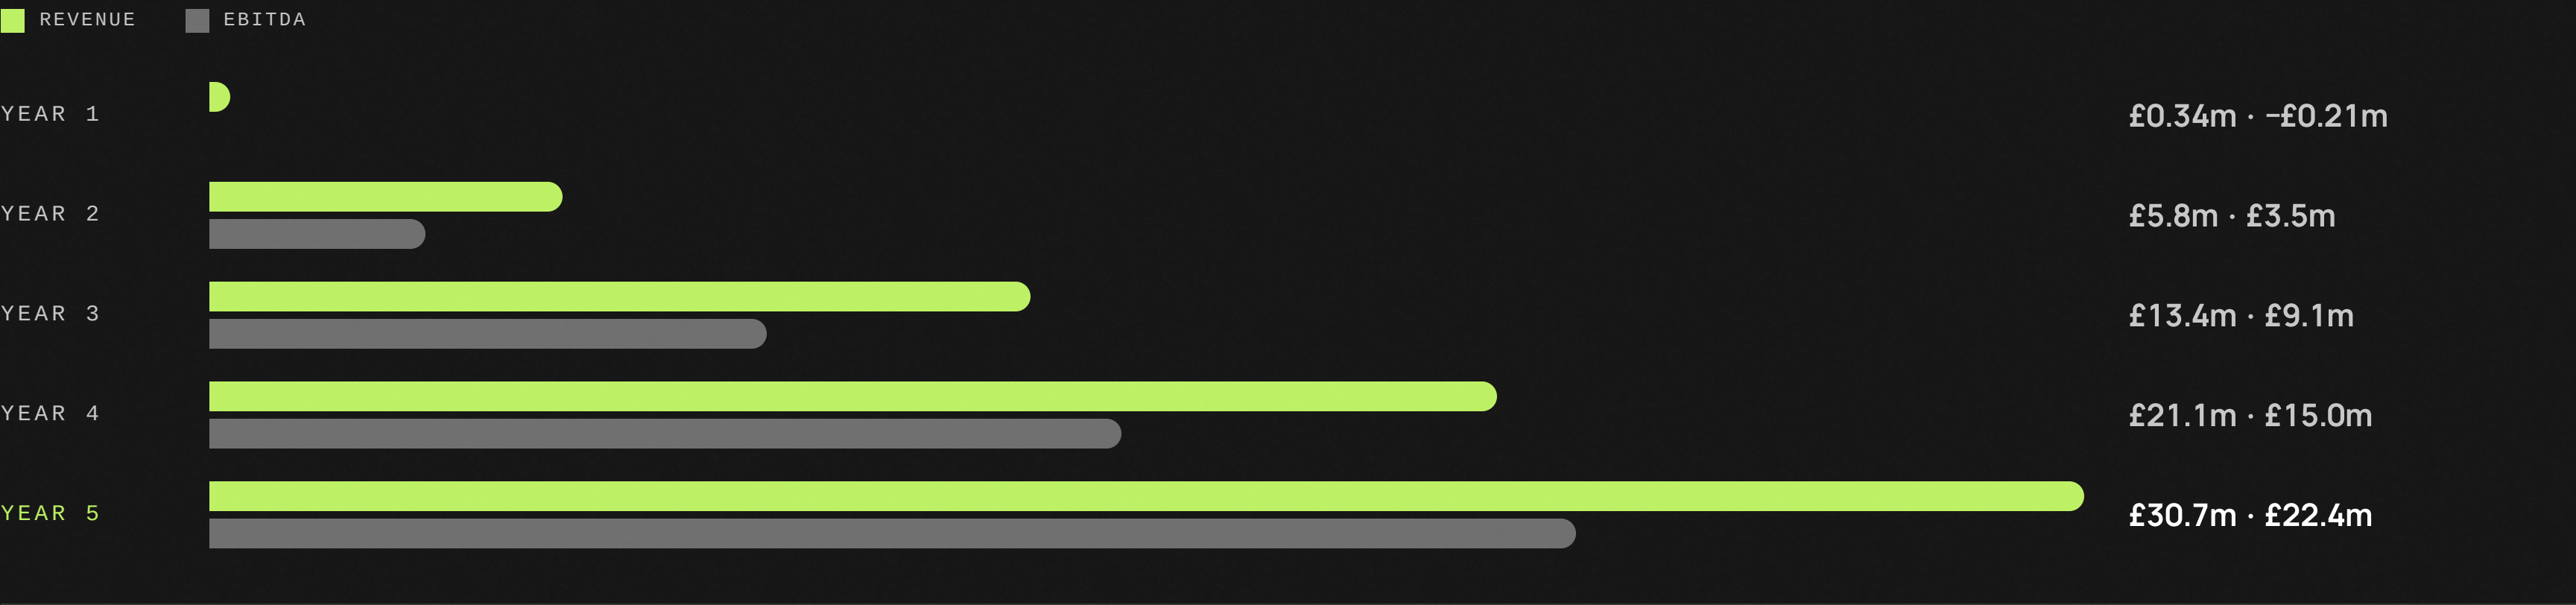

Year 5 of our plan is £30.7m — three to five per cent of that pool. We do not need to win the market. We need the part nobody is serving.

Sector figures: UK Music. Revenue pool is our own estimate, at a 20% take on the sub-1,500-capacity segment.

BASE CASE · BUSINESS PLAN V5.1

£30.7m and 73% margins by Year 5.

We take 20% of gross box office – 13% from the fan, 7% from the artist. It is the same twenty pence on every ticket the engine sells.

EBITDA-positive in April 2027. Cash-generative from that August. Ten people at Year 5.

Agents own the relationships.
AI does the work.

6

TOUR PARTNERSHIPS
MANAGERS

×

25

TOURS EACH A YEAR

×

20

DATES A TOUR

=

3,000

SHOWS A YEAR

Ex-booking agents who already hold the relationships. Our first is in seat.

Four people who have already done it.

The campaigns on slide three are theirs. So is the platform.

CEO

PJ Jarrett

Built the platform end to end. Founder of Sweat Strategies and Reel:lab.

Co-founder

Tom Rose

CEO of Grape — artist services across the UK, Germany and Norway.

Co-founder · CMO

Tobi Steinborn

Ran the campaigns behind Rules and ADMT. Co-founder of Sweat Strategies.

Tour partnerships

Josh Ergatoudis

Career booking agent who founded his own agency. First TPM, in seat.

£1m to go loud.

Eighteen months of build, five more tour partnerships managers, and the engine pointed at the market.

Product £594k 18-month build sprint	Go to market £189k the agent conferences, B2B	Licences & setup £60k FCA opinion, contracts, VAT	Team & working capital £157k the balance, to profitability
---	---	---	--

It is the last money we need. EBITDA-positive April 2027.